Congratulations! On behalf of the faculty in the School of Social Ecology we are pleased to offer you graduate admission to the University of California, Irvine beginning Fall 2024 for the purpose of graduate study leading to a Master of Public Policy degree. Your offer is based on your outstanding academic record and your promise as a future scholar.

[redacted]

Your admission status is provisional. You must forward official copies of your final transcripts from all degree-granting institutions to verify the completion of your degrees. You will want to clear this provision at your earliest convenience, if you have not already done so, so that it does not interfere with your enrollment for the Fall 2024 academic term.

For a roadmap to your degree, you can refer to https://grad.uci.edu/academics/degree-programs/index.php. For degree requirements, you can refer to the Course Catalog, which is online at http://catalogue.uci.edu/.

You should expect to receive an email from the UC Irvine Graduate Division within the next two weeks asking you to complete an online Statement of Intent to Register (SIR). Please be sure to submit your SIR by the requested SIR deadline of June 03, 2024. If offer is received after this date, please contact your program.

Congratulations again on your admission to UC Irvine.

Sincerely,

Susan Charles, Ph.D.
Associate Dean for Academic Programs

Funding Offer - Student Support Fellowships

It is our pleasure to inform you that you have been selected to receive fellowship funding. This award is not contingent upon accepting employment, and accordingly, there is no work or service requirement associated with it. You were selected because of your proven academic record and accomplishments, and we recognize the promise and potential you will bring to our university.

We congratulate you on your outstanding academic achievements and hope you will make UC Irvine your top choice for graduate education. By accepting the award, you agree to the terms of the fellowship disclosed on our website. Please contact your program for more information.

Sincerely,

Susan Charles, Ph.D.

Terms and Conditions

1. Meeting Graduate Student Policies. Admission and continued enrollment in the graduate program is contingent upon meeting all policies regarding academic progress for graduate students at UC Irvine, general standards for the award of graduate degrees, and the conditions and procedures that govern academic standing, degree candidacy, and all campus conduct policies. Failure to meet any of these requirements and conditions may result in loss of funding and/or impede or terminate a student's progress toward their degree goal. For complete policies and procedures, please visit https://grad.uci.edu/forms/academics/Graduate-Policies-and-Procedures.pdf
2. Tuition Rate. The tuition rate for each academic year is subject to approval by the UC Regents in April.
3. Residence Requirement. Candidates for advanced degrees are expected to be present on campus for each academic term. All U.S. citizens and Permanent Residents are expected to establish California residency at the end of their first year of study and to maintain residency throughout their time in the program. California Residency information can be found on the UC Irvine website. Nonresident Supplemental Tuition (NRST) will not be paid for students beyond year one (except for international students who may not become California residents). International Students who cannot establish California residency will be assessed additional NRST each quarter during the years of study. Any coverage of NRST by the department is subject to local policies and procedures and the collective bargaining agreements for employees.
4. Work Eligibility Requirements. Students must meet requirements to satisfy work eligibility requirements and/or legal employment authorization in the United States in order to be employed on campus, where applicable, and the timely submission of all documents required by the University to process a request for work authorization.
5. Final Transcript. Prior to the start of the first term, the UC Irvine Graduate Division must receive an official transcript showing the undergraduate degree conferred or the completion of all academic work subsequent to the submission of the application. Enrollment may be terminated if a student fails to provide an official transcript of degree, study or other academic work that was presented as a part of the admission application.
6. Withdrawing or Rescinding an Offer of Admission. UC Irvine reserves the right to withdraw or rescind an offer of admission under any of the following conditions:
    a. Any part of your application contains misrepresentations or falsified documentation;
    b. If you fail to graduate, do not receive an undergraduate diploma (or its equivalent) by the end of the current school year, or otherwise will not hold the academic credentials you presented as part of your application;
    c. If you are currently enrolled in a degree program, you show a significant drop in your academic performance between now and your graduation (as determined by our office);
    d. If you accept our offer of admission as well as the offer of admission of another college or university for the same period of enrollment;
    e. If you engage in behavior that brings into question your honesty, maturity, or professional suitability; or
    f. If you engage in conduct that violates University policy.
7. These terms and conditions are subject to change as a result of action by federal and/or state governments or the Administration of the University of California, Irvine.
